Proposal for Additional Rule and New Form: "Application to File and Issue".

I propose that the High Court Rules be amended to add an additional Rule:

A person who has lodged an application in the original jurisdiction of the Court that has been rejected by registry may make an ex parte application to the Court for an order that the person's application in the original jurisdiction be filed and issued by registry.

And an additional Form for such an ex parte application to be added to the Court Forms.

It may be possible to make such an application at present if a judicial officer (or a Full Court) exercised the existing power under the Rules to dispense with the Rules as sufficient substantial compliance in the circumstances has been made. But registry officers have so far refused to submit such an application to the Chief Justice. This proposed additional Rule and Form clarifies the situation for both registry and applicants.
